

Connections & Opportunities in Health

tpa-careers.info/healthops

Confident about pursuing a career in health, but curious about your options or career path? Whatever professional interests you have related to health and wellness, Connections & Opportunities in Health is your chance to explore the possibilities in a welcoming, low stress environment!

October 29, 2025
MSC Ballroom
11:00 am - 3:00 pm

What to Expect:

- Meet employers offering internships and jobs related to health.
- Explore health-related graduate schools and training programs.
- Meet alumni and professionals working in a wide range of health careers.
- Attend short, interactive, concurrent sessions with academic advisors and career coaches to demystify health career paths and hear professional development tips.

No Suit? No Resume? No Problem.

Come as you are—this is a space for exploration and connection, not a traditional career fair. Whether you're just beginning to explore or getting serious about your next step, this event is for you. Job seekers are encouraged to bring a resume, but it is not required to attend.

Who Should Attend?

Students from all majors and academic levels interested in careers in health—broadly defined—are welcome.

This event is hosted in partnership with the Center for Career and Professional Development, College of Public Health, College of Arts & Sciences, and featuring USF Health.
